Marian Hagins Memorial Art Competition

September 5: Gallery Officially Open

September 16: Competition Reception, 3-5pm, Historic Springs House

October 29-31: Art Pickup Days

The Marian Hagins' Memorial Art Competition was started in 1981 by the three children of Marian Hagins, in loving memory of their mother who "understood that art is the past, present, and future" as written by Mrs. Inez Plyler in 1983. Her love of art led Marian and friends to start the The Lancaster County Art League in 1954, to help further the arts as well as provide a meeting place for artists and art lovers to share their love of the arts. The Art League and the Arts Council are not just for artists - they are for anyone who loves art and wants to learn. Marian's children have also created a trust fund, which supplies five of the cash prizes for the event.

FROM THE DIRECTOR

Debbie Jaillette

I would like to introduce you to our new Projects and Programs Coordinator, Tim Dupre, who began his work with the LCCA on August 14.

Tim is a native of Standish, Maine and came to SC in 2007. He graduated from Coker College in 2011 with his Bachelors of Arts in Theatre. Since then, he married the lovely Dana in 2014, and resides in Kershaw, SC. Since then, Tim has been searching SC all over to find his place in the landscape, where he can bring his talents to a greater purpose.

In 1997, Tim was introduced to the stage by a small schoolhouse that was in his hometown. Two years later, Tim was fully bitten by the acting bug and a major factor for his community theater. Over the years, Tim has been many things for many communities: ensemble actor, stage hand, stage manager, lighting director, sound manager, musician, villain, lead actor, playwright, and even director. Most recently, you may have seen Tim in the Community Playhouse of Lancaster County's 2016 production of "Daddy's Dyin, Who's Got the Will?"

Tim is excited to be here and he sees his job as one of the best ways to help push the arts to the forefront in Lancaster. Without the arts, Tim would not be who and where he is today, and he believes truly that same statement can be made for anyone who has been involved in the arts. He says this: "...without the arts, I never would've gathered the courage to move so far from my home. Without the arts, I never would have met my wife. And a life without the arts misses so much joy in this world." Welcome to Tim and best wishes to Queserie Peay, who returned to school to complete her degree in education.

Duke Energy Vice President of Community Relations for South Carolina Rick Jiran presents the "Cultural Energy 2018 Grant" to Tim Dupre, the new Projects and Programs Coordinator for the LCCA!

New Mission Statement:

Early in 2018, the LCCA Board of Directors completed a new Strategic Plan for 2018-2021, with excellent guidance by facilitator Nell Walker. One of our goals was to update and refine our current Mission Statement. This mission guides our daily work, strategic planning and defines clearly why we exist and our vision for this wonderful community:

The mission of the Lancaster County Council of the Arts is to enrich the quality of life in Lancaster County by building a vibrant community connecting arts, culture, and economic vitality through education, advocacy, and collaboration.

looking back...at our 2018 arts and sciences camps

We recently received a generous donation from a patron who is also an Aldi customer. Our friend showed his gratitude for the extreme helpfulness of the Aldi management and staff by sending a contribution IN THEIR HONOR that was used to send children to arts & sciences camp. The corporate Aldi folks also support our camps with healthy snacks. The picture above is of 3 fine Aldi managers and LCCA Executive Director Debbie Jaillette, who delivered thank you notes to them from a group of our campers.

Special thanks to our 2018-19 Corporate Sponsors, Kennedy Center Partners and supporting Foundations:

FACES of the Arts

Elisabeth Streeter is one of two Visitor Coordinators at the Native American Studies Center. She previously worked in the USCL Art Studios with Professors Fran Gardner, Brittany Taylor-Driggers, and Dianne Mahaffee. Along with her work at the Center and at USCL, Streeter has worked with Mahaffee who teaches art classes both at USCL and Discovery School. Streeter has completed over 100 hours in an apprenticeship with Mahaffee in her studio along with hours in her Discovery School classroom. Streeter is a senior at USCL working on a degree through Palmetto College in Art, English, and Sociology to help her pursue a career in art education or graphic designing. From an early age, she has had an eye for aesthetically pleasing things. Streeter has stated that "I believe my passion for the Arts derives from my curiosity of other cultures, daily life, and nature. She plans to be a graphic artist and/or an Arts teacher. "My hopes are to be able to spread the values in the Arts any way that I can, be it teaching or in modern usage such as advertisement," Streeter says. "I believe that without the Arts in life, it would be more difficult for people to live as they do today because every aspect of life has some form of Art in it. Whether it is an everyday logo, or a song one hears in the grocery store, the Arts are everywhere, and should be more appreciated and respected because of how much they are involved in life." Streeter currently researches Arts development for Lancaster County which started from an Arts internship under Professor Fran Gardner and has turned into many hopeful ideas for the county. "We have so many great Arts programs here already however, I look forward to pursuing more of my own ideas in hopes a further thriving Arts community in Lancaster," Streeter says.
